

CERTIFIED FLIGHT INSTRUCTORS

Jeremy Biediger is one of our full-time Certified Flight Instructors. As a local resident, Jeremy graduated from Kamiakin High School in 2009 and then went on to graduate from Central Washington University in 2013 with a Bachelors of Science in Professional Pilot. He first started flight instructing for the university and joined Bergstrom's team in 2014 to broaden his career in aviation.

Jeremy always had a passion for flying, which can typically be said for any pilot. However, in middle school he decided to make a career out of his passion. Ever since then he has patiently waited to reach each step in his career path to eventually become an airline pilot. After graduating from CWU, Jeremy had achieved his private pilot license, instrument rating, commercial license, multi-engine rating, and certified flight instructor certificate. Since 2009, he has accumulated over 700 hours and is anticipating adding more ratings to further increase his skills as a pilot and instructor.

The B-52 or "BUFF" for short is Jeremy's favorite airplane. The B-52 displays the raw power of aerodynamics, thrust capacity, and the amazing engineering of human beings. Jeremy says "It's amazing to think they are still in operation even though they were first introduced in the Vietnam War Era."

What inspires Jeremy to teach is witnessing the joy of his students when they achieve their license or reach a certain goal. Jeremy says "It feels good because it reassures my skill level and teaching ability as well as knowing I have helped change someone's life in a positive way." Aside from flying, Jeremy also loves spending time with his wife, Samantha. They see lots of traveling in the near future!

Mr. Biediger says, "A good pilot can fly an airplane well, but a proficient pilot always continues to learn."
